President's Report

What an incredible year it has been for Uni Camp for Kids.

I couldn't be prouder of how far the charity has come over the past 12 months, and of the incredible dedication and support from our volunteers and sponsors.

From the outset, the executive team set clear goals to guide the year and shape Uni Camp's growth. Our primary focus was on recruiting, retaining, and supporting our volunteers and we made real progress. We secured funding for key initiatives, including fuel reimbursement for Picnic volunteers and Family Day allowances on Camps. This financial support helped break down a major barrier for our university aged volunteers, particularly during the current economic climate.

We also focused on providing volunteers with the opportunity to upskill - introducing subsidised Bronze Medallion courses to build their water safety and resuscitation skills. These qualifications have helped us meet the required safety ratios at pools and calm water venues, ensuring a safe environment for both children and volunteers.

Another major milestone was being selected as one of the Telethon beneficiaries for 2025. This funding fully covered our 2025 Camp excursions and will fund all Picnics through to the end of the year. More than that, it's opened doors to new partnerships with other WA-based community groups, expanding our reach and potential impact.

It was a huge year for sponsorships, as we worked alongside our long-standing supporters including Lotterywest, Making Life Better, Joondalup Ladies Golf Day, and Retravisation. Thank you to all our sponsors, both returning and new, who have supported us over the past 12 months. We couldn't have done it without your generosity. Your contributions have directly impacted the lives of hundreds of children, helping us deliver safe, meaningful, and unforgettable experiences through every Camp and Picnic.

Thanks to these efforts and the incredible generosity of our community, we were able to support over 500 children through our programs this year.

I could continue to fill pages with all that Uni Camp has achieved in the past 12 months, but instead, I want to share the heart of our journey this past year.

During my final year of my physiotherapy degree, I stepped into the role of President. Many of my peers and supervisors questioned the timing. Why take on such a big commitment when I should be focused on my clinical placements and impressing future employers? Why pour so much energy into a charity unrelated to my future career?

At first, I'd just shrug it off - it didn't feel worth trying to explain to people who wouldn't understand. But as more and more people questioned my decision, I found myself starting to reflect on that question: why?

Why, in the most intense part of my degree, would I take on the challenge of leading a charity?

Why do we, as a volunteer community, give so much of ourselves to this cause?

In an era when volunteer numbers among 18-25-year-olds are at their lowest, why does Uni Camp still have a group of young people who return year after year?

Why give your time to a cause like this?

Is it the magic of each Picnic and Camp - the storylines and activities where even something as simple as digging up a potato from a sandpit becomes a core memory?

Is it the connections we build with every child? Watching five year olds grow into teenagers. Becoming that one positive, consistent role model a child needs. Hearing from former children, now adults, who tell us Uni Camp changed their lives. That it gave them the confidence to pursue university and break out of a cycle that once held them back.

Is it the community we've built? The children who refuse to take off their Camp shirts and hats. The handshakes and traditions passed down year after year. The silly jokes, the dances, the alumni who still remember the lolly throw song and insist on singing it at reunion events.

Is it the personal growth each of us experiences? From the first year university student who just wanted to give back and have fun, who now finds themselves in their tenth year with Uni Camp.

On reflection, I don't think there's just one reason. It's all of this, and more. Each volunteer has their own reason for staying, and that's what makes this Uni Camp for Kids so special.

As I compile this report, I'm overwhelmed with pride. I want to thank the 2024/2025 committee for their unwavering support and hard work in making this year such a success. To the executive team - Emily, Monique, and Will - thank you for backing my wild ideas and helping make Uni Camp bigger and better than ever.

Uni Camp transforms lives, and I hope this Impact Report gives you just a glimpse of the magic we've all been lucky enough to be a part of.

Julia has volunteered with Uni Camp for Kids for five years, holding roles including General Girl (2022), Secretary (2023), and President (2024).

As Secretary, she introduced structured Picnic training modules to support new volunteers and upskill returning ones. As President, she implemented key policies, developed volunteer reimbursement schemes, subsidised Bronze Medallion training, and secured Uni Camp's first Telethon sponsorship. Across her roles, Julia has focused on building a safe, inclusive, and sustainable Uni Camp for all involved.

In 2025, as Immediate Past President, she aims to support the committee and work to strengthen the charity's long-term sustainability. Her goals include exploring an advisory body for Uni Camp and collaborating with alumni to plan the 90th birthday celebration.

Treasurer's Report

It is with great pride that I present this Treasurer's Report, providing a snapshot of the financial year ending 28 February 2025. This was a particularly significant year for our finances, as we set out to rebuild and strengthen our bank accounts post-COVID, diversify our income streams, and reduce volunteer-related expenses - all while managing the pressure of rising costs due to the current economic climate.

We are pleased to report a total income of $277,600 and total expenses of $226,000, resulting in a net profit of $51,600 - more than double last year's net profit. This strong result was made possible through strategic initiatives and the dedication of our committee and volunteers.

Income

A key focus this year was diversifying income sources. Historically reliant on Lotterywest and alumni donations, we made a concerted effort to expand our grant portfolio. Thanks to outstanding efforts made our committee, we secured multiple successful grants, notably becoming a Telethon beneficiary, as well as securing a 3 year sponsorship deal with Retravision.

Donations also saw impressive growth. Our Making Life Better donation increased by 50% compared to last year, and the EOFY donation letters, targeting alumni and affiliated businesses, significantly exceeded previous results.

Fundraising was another standout success this year, with a range of events contributing to our strong financial position. The UCFK Festival was a major highlight. Other successful initiatives included bake sales, sausage sizzles, and the ever-popular Bike Bar event. We engaged in many "Work for Donations," where our members volunteered at various events. And finally, a special mention to some incredible volunteers conducting personal fundraisers; Isy Tomich's Ironman fundraiser and Billy and Annie's wedding gift fund!

Expenses

A major focus this year was reducing volunteer expenses while maintaining financial sustainability. This included removing the pool entry fee for volunteers, introducing fuel gift cards and. We also incurred new costs with our storage shed but successfully negotiated a reduced rate.

On our camps, Point Peron Camp School costs continue to significantly rise, this year totalling $127,800. However, we continued our volunteer support initiatives by introducing family day reimbursements, giving each family $100 to spend on the day, to which we received fantastic feedback. We also increased our activities budget to $700 per camp. We also had some Transport expenses included hiring a minibus in addition to our regular party busses, fuel costs and bus driver licence reimbursements.

Thank you to everyone who played a part in this incredible year!

Emily Nixon
Treasurer 2024

Emily took on the role of Treasurer after three years of dedication to the charity, and in her second year of a Juris Doctor degree. She brought strong leadership, financial governance, and a passion for supporting both the children and volunteers alike. This year, she led key initiatives, including the EOFY fundraising drive, which raised over $13,000, and the Family Day Allowance to financially assist volunteers on Camps. Emily also introduced measures to strengthen Uni Camp's long-term financial stability. Looking ahead, she aims to support the 2025 committee by contributing to strategic planning and enhancing the charity's legal systems.

1st Camp Viking Camp

Camp Executive

Directors: Sam Birrell

Head Freelancer: Isabella Tomich

Activities Officers: Daniel Jefferies and Nick Hall

At Viking Camp, kids and volunteers embarked on thrilling adventures to conquer and explore new lands throughout the week. Guided by the legendary Ragnar and Floki, each day presented exciting challenges for the kids to tackle. In return for their bravery and newfound skills, they earned colorful bands as trophies of their achievements.

Meanwhile, Thor and Freya made sure the freelancers, the trusty shield-bearers, kept the families safe from any danger. With their watchful eyes, they ensured the week unfolded as smoothly as a Viking longship gliding across the sea.

2nd Camp Despicable Me

Camp Executive

Directors: Joe Chaney and Billy Bargmann

Head Freelancer: Mia Dorsett-Sawyer

Activities Officers: Helene Moe and William Coad

Despicable Me Camp, affectionately known as Despici-Camp, was an exhilarating adventure where kids and volunteers joined forces with Gru, Dru, Bob, and Stuart for the ultimate mission - stealing the moon!

Each day, we embarked on thrilling challenges, honing our skills to become the best minions and villains imaginable.

With Dr. Nefaria at the helm, our dedicated freelancer team ensured that the week was a smooth operation, making sure everyone had an unforgettable experience from start to finish!

2025 Camp Statistics

In 2025:

- 174 children attended our Summer Camps.
- 110 volunteers aged between 18 - 35 gave their time to help run our programs.
- Over 25,000 hours of unpaid, voluntary work was performed in preparation and during our 2025 Summer Camps.
- 1 new partnership established with Foodbank who ran healthy eating and cooking workshops.

We surveyed carers, guardians and referrers post our 2025 Camps. Here is what they said:

What did our volunteers say about Camps?

76% of volunteers strongly agree that they made new friends on Camp.

85% of volunteers strongly agree that Uni Camp gives them an opportunity to positively impact the WA community.

70% of experienced volunteers agree Camps gives them an opportunity to take on leadership roles.

agree that Uni Camp for Kids is one of the few respite options available for their family.

88%

agree that Camps allow their child to make new friends and connect with their peers.

95%

agree that Camps create a sense of community.

100%

strongly agree there is a need for Uni Camp for Kids in the community.

"The kids loved their leaders and the certificates that the leaders wrote really spoke to the real character of the children and it was wonderful to see and know there was genuine connection. The leaders made a huge impact on the kids, they came back singing and happy. I am very grateful as people in my situation fall through the cracks and without government support. Uni Camp for Kids gives me some hope in humanity." - Carer

Secretary's Report

In 2024, Uni Camp for Kids achieved significant milestones in its mission to support local children experiencing financial, social, and emotional disadvantages. We were pleased to have nearly 500 children from the Western Australian community participate in our programs. This marked a year of growth and impact, as we received positive feedback about how our initiatives were positively affecting the lives of the children involved.

Between 2024 and 2025, over 100 new children were referred to our programs by Social Workers, Case Managers, and Deputy Principals. Many of these children attended our Picnics in 2024, and participated in their first Camp experience in 2025. The feedback from the children and their carers has been overwhelmingly positive, reflecting the meaningful impact our programs have had on the children's lives.

Our main focus in 2024 and 2025 centered on making our programs more accessible to carers. We made our registration process more accessible for carers by transitioning from pen-and-paper forms to an electronic registration system. Carers have expressed great appreciation for this change, as it made the process easier by removing the need to visit local libraries for printing, completing, and scanning forms. This new process not only made registration more convenient for carers but also streamlined our internal operations, allowing us to maintain better records and ensure that we could easily reach out to children previously referred to our programs.

We are deeply grateful to our sponsors, whose support made it possible to hold five successful Picnics and two amazing Camps. The first Picnic of 2025, sponsored by Telethon, was our largest since July 2021, supporting nearly 200 children. This event highlights the continued growth of Uni Camp for Kids, 89 years on, as well as the demand for our services within the community. It highlights the positive impact we continue to have on children, families, and carers.

As part of our reflection on the year, we asked a group of the 65 children who graduated from Uni Camp for Kids in 2024/2025 what they would remember most about their experiences. Every child responded with the same sentiment: "The volunteers and the friends they met along the way." This reflects the incredible emotional impact our volunteers have, as they not only build strong relationships with the children we support but also create a safe and nurturing environment where these children can thrive.

Finally, we would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to our volunteers. You are the true role models for these children, and for many of them, Uni Camp for Kids is the highlight of their year. Your dedication, kindness, and commitment make all the difference. Without you, our mission would not be possible. Thank you for helping us continue to provide a safe and supportive environment for children to simply be kids.

After serving as Treasurer in 2023, Monique stepped into the role of Secretary, performing the role with compassion and kindness. She continuously ensured all children were accounted for at all our events. She introduced online Picnic sign-up forms, making them more accessible for carers and guardians. In 2025, Monique will begin her third term on the committee as President, aiming to foster a safe, inclusive Uni Camp for everyone.

The Impact on our Kids and Community

The kids can't stop talking about their experiences at Uni Camp for Kids! I have two children - one who recently graduated from the program - and I've witnessed both of them grow into confident young individuals. The eldest, who graduated in 2024, often shares her excitement about turning 18 so she can be a leader at Uni Camp for Kids. She is eager to dance on the party bus like her leaders did when she was little and make a difference for children in similar situations to her own.

- Carer

This was my child's first Uni Camp. She had been to a couple of similar camps prior - but was a little bit nervous to come along. Prior to Camp, she was quiet and kept to herself. When I picked her up from Camp, she was more open and family orientated since attend the camp. She has started to help around the house more, and stills likes to read her certificate from her leaders on Camp. Those words mean the world to these children, and can change lives. - Carer

I have previously worked in Out of Home Care and currently working in Intensive Family Support, we refer lots of children to the program. In the past 12 years of referring children to the program I have witnessed and have feedback from parents and caregivers of the positive impact the camps have on the children. The camps build the children's confidence in many areas of their lives. I have received reports from families on their children being able to make friends whereas in their everyday life they struggle. Further reports on increased self-confidence to try new tasks/activities in their home/school life. Uni Camp for Kids has continuously been there for some of WA's most vulnerable and disadvantaged children. - Referrer, Case Worker

Vice President's Report

2024 was a year of tremendous growth for Uni Camp for Kids.

I returned to Uni Camp for Kids in 2022 and experienced the wonder of UCFK's camp programs for the first time, having been a part-time-picnicker in the early years of my undergraduate degree.

At the age of 24, after having one of the best weeks of my life at Point Peron, I sat and listened as a 30-year-old retiring camper had a discussion with the male volunteers at that camp about the state of the charity.

Covid had hurt volunteer numbers hard, particularly amongst the younger male demographic, and we were struggling to find enough new volunteers to run our programs in their traditional formats. That camper stressed how it was on those who had experienced the magic of our programs, to step up and do one small act that may contribute towards the longevity of our charity – whether that was remaining involved as a volunteer, sharing their experiences with their friends, or stepping on to committee. His words galvanised me, at the beginning of my 7th year of study, to join the Uni Camp committee and assist in any manner that I could to ensure that the life changing experiences I had shared alongside disadvantaged Perth children could be passed on to the next generation of volunteers and kids alike. It is conversations like these that have contributed towards the sustained growth in volunteer numbers and retention that is now re-emerging post Covid.

In 2024, Will transitioned into the executive team after serving as the Fundraising Officer in 2023. Alongside his responsibilities at Uni Camp, he was also completing his final year of his Juris Doctor degree and working part-time.

Will's primary objective was to ensure that Uni Camp met all legal requirements to maintain a safe environment for everyone involved. He introduced an official Working with Children's Check register to guarantee the accurate and secure maintenance of all volunteer records.

Looking ahead, Will plans to continue supporting the committee by reviewing the charity's legal systems and establishing connections with local law firms to reinforce these systems.

In 2024, we made volunteers and volunteer retention a focal point of our executive. We introduced new initiatives made possible by our sponsors and sought to give back to our members to reduce the ever-increasing financial hurdles of volunteering.

On our Picnic programs, we had 168 new volunteers join us throughout the year. That number does not include those who signed up for our programs but that we could not place on Picnic due to experienced volunteer numbers. The influx of new volunteer culminated in us ultimately being able to host 66 families at 1st Picnic 2025, our biggest Picnic since 3rd Picnic of 2021. On that Picnic, we had a waitlist of some 50 volunteers. That is a huge achievement.

On our Camp programs, 110 volunteers aged between 18 and 35 gave their time to help run our programs. That demographic spread is an incredible testament to the lasting impact that Uni Camp has upon the lives of those who volunteer with us. Eighty-five percent of those volunteers surveyed strongly agreed that Uni Camp gave them an opportunity to positively impact the WA community.

Ultimately, what these numbers indicate is that Uni Camp continues to significantly and positively impact upon the lives of not only those children most disadvantaged within the Perth community, but the volunteers who give up their spare time to make our programs run. We could not have done any of this without you. I feel so privileged to have been able to represent and be part of such a supportive and selfless volunteering community, and feel comfortable knowing that I will be stepping off the 2024 executive with our volunteering base and charity in its best position in years.

Will Bevan
Vice President 2024

Our Volunteer's Perspective

I am now in my ninth year volunteering with UCFK and I feel more grateful after each and every picnic and camp to be part of such a special community. It is incredibly rewarding to see how the joy, laughter and positive role modelling that we provide has a very real impact on the lives of kids whose home lives are often difficult beyond comprehension.

I am so grateful for what the charity provides to some of Perth's most disadvantaged children, but I am even more grateful for what it has provided me. My time at UCFK has truly made me a better person, given me incredible lifelong friendships, and allowed me to give back in such a special way.

For the past seven years, I have had the privilege of being involved with Uni Camp for Kids, and it has undoubtedly been the most fulfilling and defining experience of my life. This charity has ingrained itself into the fabric of the Perth community through its unwavering commitment to providing opportunities for at-risk children to simply enjoy being kids. One of the most special aspects of UCFK is seeing the immediate impact on those it helps, whether reflected in smiles, laughter, or moments of pure chaotic fun! Uni Camp for Kids personifies community in its purest form, and I am endlessly proud to be part of such an incredible organisation and group of people.

Drew

For me, Uni Camp for Kids has been so much more than just another club. It's an opportunity for growth and change on all sides – as a helper, a leader, a human being. I have learned what it means to truly, deeply care about something so much greater than myself, and how to channel that care into a system that will let it bloom into real, tangible difference. There is something so fundamentally human about helping others, and Uni Camp has given me a chance to explore that beautiful altruism, and see its effects beam through the smiling faces of children at playgrounds, parks, and pools. This was only my first year volunteering with Uni Camp, but I am already certain that I'm going to keep coming back for as long as they'll have me.

Sydney

Uni Camp for Kids is such a special organisation and has without a doubt been one of the most meaningful opportunities I've ever been part of. Now in my fourth year of volunteering, I'm still taken aback by the incredible and lasting bonds that form between the kids and their leaders, which you can see so clearly in the kids excitement when they see a leader they have had before. Watching these kids grow in confidence in themselves and letting their vibrant personalities shine, is beyond rewarding and something I am so proud to be apart of. Uni Camp truly is a magical, joy-filled experience that keeps myself – and so many others – coming back year after year."

Celebrating a Life Member

Sule Alagic

Unfortunately, Sule could not attend our AGM in March 2025 in person. In a voice memo played at the AGM, he expressed being "deeply honoured and humbled to be nominated as a life member of Uni Camp for Kids."

He never anticipated this recognition. Fifteen years ago, he could not have foreseen the profound impact Uni Camp would have on his life. What began as a way to give back to the community and engage in university culture became a personal journey of growth and forming lifelong connections with children and volunteers.

Sule summed up his feelings about being awarded life membership by singing the iconic lolly throw song, "what a glorious feeling—I'm hap, hap, happy again."

Congratulations to our 8th Life Member of Uni Camp for Kids, Sule Alagic.

In 2025, the Committee reintroduced life membership at Uni Camp for Kids to acknowledge those who have made significant contributions. This year, we are pleased to congratulate Sule on being nominated as the 2025 Uni Camp for Kids life member.

Starting as a fresher boy in 2011, Sule made an impact at Uni Camp for Kids. He served as Treasurer in 2012 and Vice President in 2013, working with his committee to organise four Summer Camps that year. Overall, Sule has participated in 23 Camps and held various executive roles, including activities officer and head freelancer. Most notably, he directed Super Mario Camp in 2022.

Sule continues to contribute to Uni Camp for Kids. In 2023, he returned to help by driving buses during camps when there was a shortage of qualified volunteers. He also collaborated with the Committee to establish a partnership with Chisholm Catholic College, allowing our Camp groups to use their swimming pool and gym for free of charge. Additionally, he has held fundraising opportunities for Uni Camp for Kids, including during his own engagement party where Uni Camp volunteers were bar and wait staff.

Where to from here?

Summary

In Uni Camp for Kids' 89th year of operation, it is more important than ever for our charity to have clear directions and goals.

In 2024, the Executive Committee set collaborative goals that contributed to the successful 2024/2025 year. These goals have now become standard practice for Uni Camp for Kids.

The 2025/26 Executive team, with some assistance from the the 2024/25 Executive team, worked together to establish goals that will guide the charity over the next 12 months. As part of their collaboration, both executives plan to develop a strategic plan to help future committees continue to advance Uni Camp's mission - to create a space for kids to simply, be kids!

Goals for 2025/26

Creating longevity for Uni Camp

Seeking support through local legal firms to reshape our constitution and establish an advisory council made up of alumni volunteers to assist the committee throughout the year.

Diversifying Picnics

Seeking new opportunities to collaborate with local community group and business to diversify our Picnic programs to enhance engagement from children and volunteers.

No volunteer out of pocket costs at Picnic

Building on the 2024/25 efforts to cover most of the out-of-pocket expenses for Uni Camp for Kids, such as fuel and pool entry fees, the 2025/26 committee is dedicated to exploring ways to reimburse volunteers for lunch and snack expenses on the day of the event.

Expanding our volunteer community

Continue to build our connection with other universities including Curtin, Notre Dame and ECU, as well as expanding to TAFE and other tertiary education providers.
